

Health Promotion Advisor

Are you a strategic thinker with strong analytical skills?

Do you have previous project management experience within the health sector?

Pinnacle Group Ltd (PGL) and Pinnacle Incorporated, with five PHOs, support a clinical network spread across the Midland area providing services for more than 430,000 people. We are passionate about the delivery of progressive primary care and want you to be part of it.

PGL is looking for a Health Promotion Advisor for the purpose of developing, managing and implementing various projects unique to Waikato Primary Health in order to improve the health of the enrolled population.

To be successful you will have a minimum of 5 years experience working within the health sector partnered with project management experience and public health advocacy. You will thrive on developing and maintaining key relationships whilst evaluating outcomes and providing support and assistance where required.

Ideally you'll have qualifications in psychology but definitely hold a tertiary qualification in public, population health or health promotion. Previous experience within a similar role is also advantageous.

Contact Tammy Hebditch, 07 858 5986 for more details or submit your CV to tammyh@pinnacle.org.nz or Pinnacle Group Ltd, P O Box 983, Hamilton.
